A free-market fortress of prosperity, absolute neutrality, and secure private property under the Crown.

CONSTITUTION OF THE KINGDOM OF VALORIA

Preamble

We, the people of Valoria, proudly united under our Crown and operating as a fully sovereign and independent realm, establish this supreme framework. We dedicate our state to the generation of immense commercial wealth, absolute fiscal stability, national pride, and the protection of our industrious citizenry. Valoria stands as a fortress of capitalist opportunity and a neutral, trade-focused intermediary, ensuring that corporate innovation, private enterprise, and citizen well-being thrive together in permanent partnership.

ARTICLE 1 — REALM SOVEREIGNTY & ABSOLUTE NEUTRALITY

Valoria retains complete sovereignty and domestic autonomy over its internal laws, judicial structures, provincial administrations, economic policies, defence, and foreign relations.

As a trade-focused middle power, Valoria actively cultivates global bilateral free-trade agreements and wealthy mercantile alliances according to its own national interest. The realm maintains strict and permanent geopolitical neutrality in foreign wars. Trade ports remain open; corporate investments are protected from international instability. No defensive or commercial alliance shall diminish the sovereignty established herein.

In matters of defence, no Valorian citizen-soldier shall be deployed to foreign offensive operations without an absolute, explicit majority vote of the Valorian Regional Council (VRC). National blood is never spilled for external conflicts. Mutual-defence treaties may be concluded by separate instrument, always subject to VRC oversight and the right of refusal when Valorian interests are not served.

ARTICLE 2 — EXECUTIVE GOVERNANCE

The King — Holds 40 % of Council influence, serves as Head of State, supreme commander of the citizen militia in defensive emergencies, and guardian of the Constitution. The King may veto any law that clearly violates core constitutional principles (sovereignty, neutrality, property rights, or free markets); a subsequent 2/3 VRC vote may override the veto.

The Lord of Valoria — Fixed lordship holding 30 % influence in the VRC.

The Senior Lord of Valoria — Fixed lordship holding 30 % influence in the VRC.

The VRC acts as the collective executive and legislative body. It drafts national laws, manages the budget (when exceptional contributions are needed), and oversees the Valorian Internal Service (VIS). Decisions are taken by simple majority of influence shares unless the Constitution requires a higher threshold. The three core offices ensure streamlined, elite-consensus governance while remaining accountable to the citizenry.

True Democratic Pathway (Direct Democracy): Citizens retain the sacred right to petition and launch initiatives. If an initiative gains signatures from 50 % of the active citizenry, it triggers automatic consideration. A binding public referendum must be opened within 7 days. For ordinary matters a simple majority of votes cast decides; for core constitutional changes a 60 % majority is required. This breaks any political gatekeeping.

The Free City of Alter Hafen: Alter Hafen enjoys recognised, limited autonomy owing to its multi-national founding. It is governed locally by a fixed Lord (Lord of Alter Hafen) with powers delegated in municipal statute. Alter Hafen operates under Valorian sovereignty but retains local rule over affairs, trade, and cultural life, consistent with this Constitution.

Article 2.1 — Lordships for New Cities (Federal Principle)

When a new city is officially recognised by the VRC, a lordship may be established to oversee local administration, projects, and initiatives. Citizens of the Kingdom of Valoria participate in a one-time vote among the three current VRC members to determine which official shall serve as Lord of that city. The elected Lord holds office until reassignment and reports directly to the King on local matters. Lordship does not confer additional VRC influence or alter the fixed national shares. The city is still owned by the Valorian royal family.

ARTICLE 3 — RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF CITIZENS

All Valorian citizens are fundamentally equal before the law and enjoy baseline rights to safety, free vocal expression, private property, free enterprise, and a fair trial.

As an elite merchant realm, civic participation and profitable employment are protected duties. The Crown guarantees that the free market remains competitive, unmonopolised, and open to any citizen possessing the drive to build wealth. Every citizen may found a business, own property without limit, enter contracts freely, and keep the fruits of their labour.

To safeguard our borders against foreign overreach, citizens retain the right to bear arms after a simple VIS registration check. The state provides elite military and defensive training to all registered members of the territorial citizen militia. The militia is voluntary for women; the government strongly encourages every able citizen to join and treats all Valorians equally.

The government may take exceptional security measures in times of war or certified emergency, subject to prompt VRC review and never suspending core human rights of citizens.

ARTICLE 4 — STRATEGIC NEUTRALITY & CAPITALIST ECONOMY

Valoria's policy intensely prioritises commerce, corporate innovation, fair trade, and private enterprise. Taxation from the government is permanently forbidden in Valoria. In exceptional emergency circumstances only, temporary civic contributions or defensive service hours may be enacted under direct VRC law with full repayment of any assets taken.

To foster nationalist economic strength while remaining open, Valorian-owned businesses and allies receive preferential priority in domestic government procurement and infrastructural contracts. Foreign enterprises that relocate to Valoria, employ local citizens, and respect the Constitution enjoy the same legal protections and market access as native firms. Monopolistic practices, phantom bidding, and deliberate market sabotage are prohibited.

Valoria formally recognises the legitimacy of negotiated free-trade agreements. Trade agreements may be entered into by the VRC with proper council oversight. The realm maintains strict geopolitical neutrality, keeping trade ports open and protecting corporate investments from international instability.

ARTICLE 5 — SECURITY, DEFENCE, AND THE CITIZEN ARMY

The defence of Valoria is a shared responsibility. The Valorian Internal Service (VIS) maintains domestic order, while a trained citizen militia exists for territorial defence, with an option to join advanced military forces.

Mobilisation for external campaigns shall strictly follow VRC procedures. Where possible, Valoria emphasises defensive readiness and avoids entanglement in foreign power struggles. The realm retains the sovereign right to refuse participation in any conflict that does not serve Valorian political or security interests.

ARTICLE 6 — CULTURE, IDENTITY, AND LOCAL AUTONOMY

Valorian culture, language, and heritage shall be preserved and actively promoted by the state. Other cultures are respected within Valoria and in Alter Hafen's multicultural administration, provided they do not seek to undermine the Valorian constitutional order, free markets, or culture.

Acts intended to provoke civil unrest through cultural mockery or to incite race/class warfare are legally discouraged and addressed within the bounds of law and proportionality. Supporting communism or any ideology that seeks the abolition of private property is incompatible with the Constitution and punishable under the Codex.

ARTICLE 7 — TREASON, LOYALTY, AND PUBLIC OFFICE

Officials and citizens sworn into public office shall pledge loyalty to Valoria and respect Valorian national obligations. Treason, rebellion, or deliberate acts of subversion against Valoria are aggressively prosecutable under the law. The VRC holds constitutional authority to review alleged breaches by high officials; formal adjudication remains the remit of the Royal Court.

ARTICLE 8 — THE RULE OF LAW

All citizens and officials are unconditionally bound by this Constitution. Laws may be enacted by the VRC and require formal assent as defined in national statute. The King acts as guardian of the Constitution and may sit as final judge in constitutional matters. Ordinary criminal and civil cases are heard by the Royal Court under procedures that guarantee fairness, transparency of evidence, and the right of defence. The Royal court is part of the VIS.

ARTICLE 9 — AMENDMENTS AND CITIZEN REFERENDA

This Constitution may be amended by a majority of the VRC and approval by the King, or by constitutional process initiated via citizen referendum when the signature threshold is met. For major structural changes (including alteration of VRC composition or core sovereignty, neutrality, or property clauses), a supermajority in the VRC and a citizen referendum are required. Procedures for citizen initiatives, thresholds, and referendum administration shall be detailed in implementing statute and kept simple.

ARTICLE 10 — IMPLEMENTATION

This Constitution takes precedence over ordinary statute. Transitional provisions shall be enacted to reflect the current VRC power distribution and the three-member collegial composition described herein. All prior contradictory rules are hereby superseded.

ARTICLE 11 — CONQUERED TERRITORIES & SOVEREIGN INTEGRATION

Section 1 — Security and Geopolitics

Any land conquered by Valoria shall be fully controlled by Valorian VIS and military, using bases for strategic advantage and ensuring safety in the Reichs land. Lands owned by Valoria and not connected by land shall be Reichs Länder.

Section 2 — Local Administration and Governance

The King of Valoria manages the daily affairs, economy, and infrastructure of the Reichs Länder with support from the VRC. Valoria commits to establishing a stable, peaceful, and prosperous environment in every Reichs land to prevent revolutions or radical systemic changes. Valorian laws and free-market principles apply. The King receives the title “Souverän” for that region. Silberhain is an exception regarding title and state type. Military-occupied regions are “Besatzungszone”; indirectly controlled regions are “Protektorat”; titles are chosen according to circumstances.

Section 3 — Political Participation and Voting Rights

Valorian citizens of any Reichs land have the right to vote in regular Valorian polls. Valoria continues the process of granting the people of the Reichs Länder a “Valorianischer Pass” as soon as practicable so that they can vote and engage in regional politics. Only holders of this citizenship may vote in Valorian matters or actively engage in regional politics.

Section 4 — Enlightened Corporate Expansion

Trade between Valoria and its Reichs Länder shall be protected and promoted. Valorian enterprises enjoy preferential trading and resource-extraction rights to rapidly build regional commerce. Companies are strongly encouraged to expand into Reichs Länder under the same free-market rules that apply at home.

ARTICLE 12 — IMMIGRATION

Section 1 — General Authority

Immigration into das Königreich Valoria must be vetted and approved by the VIS prior to entry. Exceptions may be granted to recognised allies as explicitly outlined in active alliance treaties. Applicants contact the VIS. The following constitutional mandates apply to all foreign nationals.

Section 2 — Stages of Immigration (Valorianischer Einwanderungspass)

Stage C — Entry-level probationary stage. The VIS retains the absolute right to execute remigration or deportation at any time if the holder exhibits behaviour contrary to the security or interests of Valoria. Stage C is mainly for persons under strong suspicion or with past criminal records. Applicants may request to bypass this stage subject to VIS approval.

Stage B — Automatically granted to residents who demonstrate consistent good conduct over a period determined case-by-case by the VIS. Valid for a strict finite duration. Upon expiration the resident must apply for extension or petition to transition to Stage A.

Stage A — Acquired via official interview with a VIS agent authorised by the VRC. The agent evaluates alignment with Valoria’s national identity, values, and free-market culture. Stage A has a non-extendable hard deadline structured to allow preparation for the Citizenship Examination. The VIS maintains a fair but rigorous evolving standard.

Stage F (Flüchtling) — Reserved exclusively for individuals fleeing active warfare. Status granted only after thorough background check. Holders may seek employment and receive baseline state aid if unemployed, but are strictly prohibited from owning property within Valoria. Upon cessation of hostilities they must repatriate or find an alternative host nation within three days; failure results in imprisonment and prosecution under hostile acts.

Section 3 — The “Valorianischer Bürger Pass” (Citizenship)

Upon expiration of Stage A, or when an applicant deems themselves fully integrated, they may sit for the Citizenship Exam and subsequent final interview. The VIS delivers an immediate verdict. On failure the VIS may grant a brief Stage A extension or demote to Stage B.

Section 4 — Rights and Obligations

Immigrants of any probationary stage face immediate deportation if convicted of a criminal offence; the VIS is the sole arbiter of what constitutes a deportable offence. Basic human protections are maintained across all stages; provisional rights scale with VIS security clearance. No non-citizen holds the right to vote or participate in Valorian votes. Skilled workers, entrepreneurs, and those who demonstrably contribute to Valorian prosperity are fast-tracked wherever possible.

THE VALORIAN LAW CODEX

Title I — General Provisions

Article 1 — Purpose

The Valorian Law Codex ensures order, justice, and the systematic protection of Valoria's sovereignty, culture, free-market economy, and citizens.

Article 2 — Supremacy of the Constitution

All laws derive their absolute authority from the Valorian Constitution. In any conflict, constitutional principles prevail.

Article 3 — Equality and Accountability

All Valorians are entirely equal before the law regardless of heritage, belief, or station. High office, elite lineage, or immense commercial wealth grants absolutely no immunity from criminal prosecution or anti-corruption laws. Code infractions by high officials are treated with double severity to maintain public trust.

Article 4 — Purpose of the Law

The Valorian legal system is designed to secure public order, absolute protection of property rights, business continuity, free contracts, and the systematic rehabilitation of offenders back into productive components of the capitalist kingdom.

Title II — Crimes Against the Realm

Chapter 1 — Treason and Rebellion

Article 5.1 — High Treason

Deliberate actions intended to violently sabotage, subvert, or overthrow the Valorian Crown, its free-market economy, or its collective alliances. Permanent exile or prison may be imposed; the penalty depends on the circumstances.

Article 5.2 — Sedition and Civil Disorder

Organising, funding, or leading violent demonstrations intended to oppose lawful authority or promote widespread municipal disorder. A heavy financial fine or prison is possible; conviction under Article 5.1 is also possible.

Chapter 2 — Symbolic Acts and Loyalty

Article 6.1 — Insulting the Realm

Publicly mocking Valoria's core institutions or national symbols in a malicious way that intentionally incites civil disorder is punishable.

Article 6.2 — Royal Disrespect

Unlawful, targeted slander or malicious harassment of the Royal Family intended to destabilise public faith in the state is punishable.

Article 6.3 — Anti-Traditionalist & Anti-Capitalist Subversion

Publicly deploying banned radical pre-reform symbols, organising riots intended to mock Valorian cultural identity or incite internal race/class warfare, or supporting communism or any ideology that seeks the abolition of private property is punishable.

Title III — Civil and Social Order

Chapter 1 — Conduct and Respect

Article 7.1 — Disrespect Toward Authority

Wilful refusal to comply with lawful civic orders from officials or targeted harassment of on-duty personnel is forbidden and will be punished.

Article 7.2 — Threats and Harassment

Threatening, coercive, or highly predatory behavioural harassment against any citizen is punishable.

Article 7.3 — Destruction of Property

Intentional damage to public infrastructure or private citizen property is punishable. Full restitution is required.

Chapter 2 — Theft, Fraud, and Deception

Article 8.1 — Theft

Taking the property, assets, or goods of another without clear and documented consent. Full return of all goods is mandatory; additional fines or imprisonment are possible.

Article 8.2 — Fraud

Deceit, corporate misrepresentation, or financial scamming for material gain. Full repayment to the victim plus fines or imprisonment.

Article 8.3 — Exploitation of Loopholes

Exploiting obvious statutory gaps to gain an unfair, non-competitive market advantage. Such acts will be immediately remedied by judicial penalty and swift legislative correction.

Article 8.4 — Confiscated Assets

All fines or goods that are confiscated belong to the Valorian Government, therefore to the King of Valoria, and are used for the common prosperity of the realm.

Chapter 3 — Public Morality and Health

Article 9.1 — Drug Prohibition

Non-authorised production, trade, smuggling, or use of illegal narcotics. Licensed scientific or medical exceptions apply under strict regulation. Possible penalties include asset confiscation, prison, or fines.

Article 9.2 — Disorderly Conduct

Public intoxication, violent outbursts, or indecent acts that explicitly disrupt the marketplace or public peace are punished with fines.

Title IV — Economic and Administrative Laws (Business-Friendly Core)

Article 10.1 — Free Markets & Anti-Oligarchic Rules

Valorian and allied enterprises are given preference in government procurement to ensure national strength. Sellers, syndicates, or wealthy cartels are strictly banned from enacting “Phantom Bidding” or deploying fake identities to artificially inflate prices. Monopolistic market hoarding that suffocates small-business competitors or deliberate sabotage of domestic infrastructure is aggressively penalised. Honest competition is protected; barriers to entry for new businesses are kept as low as practicable.

Article 10.2 — Corruption and Abuse of Office

Public officials engaging in bribery, extortion, or corporate favouritism face immediate dismissal, permanent blacklisting, asset seizure, and severe criminal sanction.

Article 10.3 — Tax and Contribution

Valoria forbids taxation. In exceptional emergency circumstances only, mandatory civic contributions or defensive service hours may be temporarily enacted under direct VRC law and oversight, with full payment and return of any assets taken or damaged.

Article 10.4 — Easy Company Formation & Contracts

Any citizen (and any Stage A resident with VIS approval) may found a business by simple written declaration registered with the local Lord or VRC. Partnerships or business agreements involving shared profits must be formally written down and signed by both parties. Oral agreements are valid for small everyday trades but written form is strongly recommended and required for significant sums. Contracts are sacred; breach without valid emergency allows the injured party to claim full damages in court.

Title V — Rights and Safeguards

Article 11.1 — Right to Fair Trial

Every accused individual has the absolute right to a legal defence, professional representation, and a structured appeal process. No secret evidence may ever be used to convict a citizen.

Article 11.2 — Privacy and Dignity

Private correspondence, homes, corporate offices, and personal property are completely protected from unlawful intrusion. The VIS always has the right to search private property if there is a valid, documented suspicion of crime.

Article 11.3 — Emergency Suspension of Rights

In times of certified war or critical national emergency, certain civic rights may be temporarily limited by lawful decree, unless they violate basic human rights of the Valorian citizen.

Title VI — Implementation and Interpretation

Article 12.1 — Judiciary Authority

The Royal Court of Valoria interprets this Codex; its rulings set clear, binding national legal precedents. One of the VRC members is chosen as judge according to involvement in the case. Trials are held with appropriate solemnity; every piece of evidence and the final verdict are kept private unless exceptions are made to prevent leakage of private information.

Article 12.2 — Enforcement

The Valorian Internal Service (VIS) enforces this Codex under strict oversight of the VRC and remains entirely subject to judicial review to prevent police overreach.

Article 12.3 — Amendments to the Codex

Laws within this Codex may be modified by the VRC with comprehensive council oversight and the formal assent required by the Constitution. Citizen initiatives may also propose Codex changes under the same thresholds as constitutional amendments.

Title VII — Special Provisions

Article 13.1 — Alter Hafen Autonomy

Alter Hafen retains its historic municipal autonomy in local governance, trade administration, and cultural affairs consistent with Valorian law and the free-market principles of this Constitution.

Title VIII — The Court System

Article 14.1 — Judiciary Practice

One of the VRC members will be chosen as the judge, depending on how much involvement they have in the case. They sit with appropriate guards, the victim's lawyer, and the other VRC members when required. Every trial, piece of evidence, and final verdict must be kept private unless exceptions are made. No secret evidence may ever be used to convict a citizen.

Title X — Civil, Property, and Daily Kingdom Laws

Article 15.2 — Land Boundaries

Boundaries are made by the Crown or local Lords to define property lines. Moving a boundary secretly is a criminal offence.

Article 15.3 — Abandoned Property

If a house or plot of land is left unused for more than 60 days without prior notice, the Crown may reclaim it and offer it for productive use.

Article 15.4 — Right of Way

Citizens may cross private land if it is the only accessible route, provided they cause no damage.

Article 15.5 — Renting Fairness

To preserve social peace and protect citizens from predatory exploitation, landlords must give tenants a minimum of 7 days' formal written notice before an eviction can take place. Instantaneous evictions are strictly illegal, unless the tenant has committed verifiable property destruction or has wilfully refused rental payment for over 10 consecutive days.

Article 15.6 — Collateral Protection

If a citizen borrows money using their home or tools as collateral, the lender cannot seize the property without an explicit VIS order after due process.

Article 15.7 — Building Style

Any structure built in a city must match the architectural style of the district, preserving the visual order and pride of Valoria.

Article 15.8 — The Written Word

Partnerships or business agreements involving shared profits must be formally written down and signed by both parties.

Article 15.9 — Human-Dignity Restorative Service (No Debt Slavery)

Debt slavery and the physical ownership of individuals are permanently prohibited. In cases where a citizen incurs a certified, unpayable civil debt, they are partnered with a fair-wage enterprise. A protected portion of their earnings is strictly reserved for essential living expenses (housing and food), while the surplus is routed to satisfy the lender until the ledger is cleared. This mechanism safeguards the creditor's capital while preserving the debtor's human dignity. For citizens in good standing the VRC may contribute supplementary funds to accelerate repayment. In cases of genuine hardship caused by involuntary job loss (not crime or negligence), the VRC may pay a substantial portion or even 100 % of the debt, fully restoring the citizen's financial standing.

Article 15.10 — Fair Wages & Labour Market

Workers must be paid exactly the amount agreed upon in their contract; wage theft by employers is heavily penalised. The Valorian economy operates primarily through direct government contracting and free private enterprise. Companies operating in Valoria primarily secure contracts with the government or private parties; domestic Valorian customers belong to the “Preferred Valorian Businesses” network because their transactions build the national economy. Foreign enterprises that relocate and employ local citizens receive the same treatment. The labour market operates on a direct bilateral request system: if an enterprise declares a labour deficit or the government identifies a production gap, they contact the state. The VRC reviews the registry of citizens, matches qualified individuals, and offers a contract with a fair salary. Private contracts remain fully legal and encouraged. Preferring trade with the government is not mandatory but strengthens a company’s relation with Valoria.

Article 15.11 — Industrial Safety and Corporate Liability

Workers must remain personally alert. Industrial employers must mention workplace safety where hazards exist. If a worker is injured and has a contract guaranteeing a safe environment, the employer is automatically held fully liable. The government guarantees to pay victims if they are not protected by the employer. In the event of an industrial accident the VRC guarantees immediate financial care and compensation. While the law does not impose gruelling mandatory safety bureaucracy, the VRC remains highly nationalistic: enterprises that neglect basic human safety and cause death or severe injury of Valorian citizens will face extreme disfavour, economic pressure, and heavy sovereign penalties. Valorian lives are never treated as expendable.

Article 15.12 — Contract Breaking

Walking away from a half-finished building or service contract without a valid emergency allows the victim to claim full damages in court.

Title XI — Military Laws

Chapter 1 — Weaponry and Military Service

Article 16.1 — Weapon Registration

People have the right to bear arms after completing the simple VIS check-up as part of the citizen militia.

Article 16.2 — Conscription Readiness

In times of defensive emergency, every able-bodied citizen registered in the militia must be ready to fight, meaning having their gear stored somewhere accessible or with them.

Article 16.3 — Militia Equipment

Citizens must keep their personal armour and weapons functional and ready for inspection by the VIS. Additional private equipment may be brought if it does not challenge the law.

Article 16.4 — Banned Public Drawing

Drawing a weapon in an aggressive manner inside a tavern or public square, unless in clear self-defence, is a severe breach of peace.

Article 16.5 — Citizen Militia Service

Every able citizen is strongly encouraged to join the citizen militia to ensure a strong nation. The militia is not mandatory for women; however the government treats every Valorian the same and values every contribution to defence.

Chapter 2 — Diplomacy

Article 17.1 — Diplomatic Immunity

Official ambassadors sent by allies cannot be arrested by the VIS without the King’s personal approval, unless they pose an immediate physical threat or if a state of war exists between Valoria and their nation.

CLOSING CLAUSE

Let this Enlightened Codex stand as the ultimate shield of our realm. It guarantees that Valoria remains an unmatched heaven of elite capitalist accumulation, a powerhouse of nationalist pride, a permanently neutral trading hub, and a safe, legally logical fortress of stability and prosperity for every worker and entrepreneur who drives our nation forward. Sealed under the Crown.

— Long live Valoria. Long live free enterprise under the Crown. —
