CONSTITUTION OF THE KINGDOM OF VALORIA

Preamble

We, the people of Valoria, proudly united under our Crown and operating as a fully sovereign and independent realm, establish this supreme framework. We dedicate our state to the generation of immense commercial wealth, absolute fiscal stability, national pride, and the protection of our industrious citizenry. Valoria stands as a fortress of capitalist opportunity and a neutral, trade-focused intermediary, ensuring that corporate innovation and citizen well-being thrive together.

ARTICLE 1 — REALM SOVEREIGNTY

Valoria retains complete sovereignty and domestic autonomy over its internal laws, judicial structures, provincial administrations, economic policies, defence, and foreign relations.

As a trade-focused middle power, Valoria actively cultivates global bilateral free trade agreements and wealthy mercantile alliances according to its own national interest.

In matters of defence, no Valorian citizen-soldiers shall be deployed to foreign offensive operations without an absolute, explicit majority vote of the Valorian Regional Council (VRC) to ensure national blood is never spilled for external conflicts.

Valoria maintains the absolute right to negotiate economic treaties independently to build capital and commercial depth. Any defensive or commercial alliance with other states shall be governed by separate treaty instruments and shall not diminish the sovereignty established herein.

ARTICLE 2 — EXECUTIVE GOVERNANCE & POWER-SHARING

Valoria retains broad autonomy over domestic affairs including law, economy, and local administration. Executive authority is shared proportionally to ensure elite consensus and decisive command via the Valorian Regional Council (VRC):

The King: Holds 50% of Council influence, serving as the immutable Head of State and supreme ruler of Valoria.

The Lord of Valoria: A fixed lordship holding 25% influence in the VRC.

The Senior Lord of Valoria: A fixed lordship holding 25% influence in the VRC.

The VRC acts as the legislative body and drafts national laws. To ensure governance remains streamlined, it shall consist of these three core constitutional offices.

True Democratic Pathway: Citizens retain the sacred right to petition and launch initiatives. If an initiative gains signatures from 70% of the active citizenry, it triggers automatic consideration, and a binding public referendum (popular vote) must be opened to the nation within 7 days, breaking any political gatekeeping.

The Free City of Alter Hafen: Alter Hafen enjoys recognized, limited autonomy owing to its multi-national founding. It is governed locally by a fixed Lord (Lord of Alter Hafen) with powers delegated in municipal statute. Alter Hafen operates under Valorian sovereignty but retains local rule over affairs and trade.

Article 2.1 — Lordships for New Cities

When a new city is officially recognized by the VRC, a lordship may be established to oversee local administration, projects, and initiatives.

Citizens of the Kingdom of Valoria shall participate in a one-time vote between the three current members of the Valorian Regional Council (VRC), to determine which official shall serve as Lord of that specific city.

The elected Lord shall hold office over the city until reassignment, and shall be responsible for managing local administrative matters, reporting directly to the King.

Lordship does not confer additional VRC influence, alter the fixed VRC shares, or affect the constitutional authority of the elected official at the national level.

The VRC and King may enact regulations detailing the procedural, statutory, and administrative aspects of these local lordships.

ARTICLE 3 — RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF CITIZENS

All Valorian citizens are fundamentally equal before the law and enjoy baseline rights to safety, free vocal expression, private property, and a fair trial.

As an elite merchant realm, civic participation and profitable employment are protected duties. The Crown guarantees that the free market remains competitive, unmonopolized, and open to any citizen possessing the drive to build wealth.

To safeguard our borders against foreign overreach, citizens retain the right to bear arms. The state provides elite military and defensive training to all registered members of the territorial citizen militia.

The government may take exceptional security measures in times of war or emergency subject to prompt VRC review.

ARTICLE 4 — STRATEGIC NEUTRALITY

Valoria's policy intensely prioritizes commerce, corporate innovation, and fair trade, seeking to be a regional trading hub and mediator. Taxation from the government is not allowed in Valoria.

To foster nationalist economic dominance, Valorian-owned businesses are granted strict preferential priority in all domestic government procurement and infrastructural contracts where needed.

Valoria formally recognizes the legitimacy of negotiated free trade agreements. Trade agreements may be entered into by the VRC with proper council oversight.

The realm maintains strict geopolitical neutrality in foreign wars, keeping our trade ports open and protecting corporate investments from international instability.

ARTICLE 5 — SECURITY, DEFENSE, AND THE CITIZEN ARMY

The defence of Valoria is a shared responsibility. The Valorian Internal Service (VIS) maintains domestic order, while a trained citizen militia exists for territorial defence with an option to join the military advanced forces.

Mobilization for external campaigns shall strictly follow VRC procedures. Where possible, Valoria emphasizes defensive readiness and avoids entanglement in foreign power struggles.

Valoria may enter into mutual defence arrangements with allied states by separate treaty. Such arrangements remain subject always to the VRC's guidance and citizen safeguards. The realm retains the sovereign right to refuse participation in any conflict that does not serve Valorian political or security interests.

ARTICLE 6 — CULTURE, IDENTITY, AND LOCAL AUTONOMY

Valorian culture, language, and heritage shall be preserved and actively promoted by the state.

Other cultures are respected within Valoria and in Alter Hafen's multicultural administration, provided they do not seek to undermine the Valorian constitutional order or culture.

Acts intended to provoke civil unrest through cultural mockery are legally discouraged and addressed within the bounds of law and proportionality.

ARTICLE 7 — TREASON, LOYALTY, AND PUBLIC OFFICE

Officials and citizens sworn into public office shall pledge loyalty to Valoria and respect Valorian national obligations.

Treason, rebellion, or deliberate acts of subversion against Valoria are aggressively prosecutable under the law.

The VRC holds the constitutional authority to review alleged breaches by high officials, while formal adjudication remains the remit of the court.

ARTICLE 8 — THE RULE OF LAW

All citizens and officials are unconditionally bound by this Constitution. Laws may be enacted by the VRC and require formal assent as defined in national statute. The King acts as the judge.

ARTICLE 9 — AMENDMENTS AND CITIZEN REFERENDA

This Constitution may be amended by a majority of the VRC and approval by the King, or by constitutional process initiated via citizen referendum when permitted by the VRC.

For major structural changes (including alteration of VRC composition or core sovereignty clauses), a supermajority in the VRC and a citizen referendum are required.

Procedures for citizen initiatives, thresholds, and referendum administration shall be detailed in implementing statute.

ARTICLE 10 — IMPLEMENTATION

This Constitution takes precedence over ordinary statute. Transitional provisions shall be enacted to reflect the current VRC power distribution and the three-member VRC composition described herein.

ARTICLE 11 — CONQUERED TERRITORIES & SOVEREIGN INTEGRATION

Section 1 — Security and Geopolitics

Any land conquered by Valoria shall fully be controlled by Valorian VIS and military, using military bases for strategic advantages and ensuring safety in the «Reichs land». Lands owned by Valoria and not connected to Valoria via land shall be «Reichs Länder».

Section 2 — Local Administration and Governance

The King of Valoria will manage the daily affairs, economy, and infrastructure of the «Reichs Länder» himself, with support from the VRC. Valoria commits to establishing a stable, peaceful environment in every «Reichs land» to prevent future revolutions, political unrest, or radical systemic changes. Valorian laws shall apply. The king will get the title “Souverän” for that region. Silberhain is an exception regarding the title and state type. If a region is just military occupied it is a “Besatzungszone”; if only controlled indirectly it is a “Protektorat”; the title for those is chosen depending on the circumstances.

Section 3 — Political Participation and Voting Rights

The Valorian citizens of any «Reichs land» shall have the right to vote in regular Valorian polls. Valoria continues the process of granting the people of the «Reichs Länder» a “Valorianischer Pass” as soon as possible, after the reclamation of Dettermark in 1926 so that they can vote. Only people with this citizenship will be allowed to vote in Valorian matters or actively engage in regional politics.

Section 4 — Enlightened Corporate Expansion

Trade between Valoria and its «Reichs Länder» shall be protected and promoted. Valorian enterprises enjoy preferential trading and resource-extraction rights to rapidly build regional commerce. Companies are encouraged to expand into «Reichs Länder».

ARTICLE 12 — IMMIGRATION

Section 1 — General Authority

Immigration into das Königreich Valoria must be vetted and approved by the VIS prior to entry. Exceptions may be granted to recognized allies as explicitly outlined in active alliance treaties. For further inquiries, applicants must contact the VIS. The following constitutional mandates apply to all foreign nationals.

Section 2 — Stages of Immigration (Valorianischer Einwanderungspass)

Stage C: The entry-level probationary stage. The VIS retains the absolute right to execute remigration or deportation actions at any time if the holder exhibits behaviour contrary to the security or interests of Valoria. Applicants may request to bypass this stage subject to VIS approval. Stage C is mostly only for people under strong suspicion, or past criminals.

Stage B: Automatically granted to residents who demonstrate consistent good conduct over a designated period determined on a case-by-case basis by the VIS. This stage is valid for a strict, finite duration. Upon expiration, the resident must apply for an extension or petition to transition to Stage A.

Stage A: Acquired via an official interview with a VIS agent authorized by the VRC. The agent will evaluate whether the applicant aligns with Valoria's national identity and values. Stage A has a non-extendable hard deadline, structured to allow the resident ample time to prepare for the Citizenship Examination. The VIS is mandated to maintain a fair but rigorously evolving examination standard.

Stage F (Flüchtling): Reserved exclusively for individuals fleeing active warfare. Status is granted only upon completion of a thorough background check. Holders possess the right to seek employment and receive baseline state aid if unemployed, but are strictly prohibited from owning property within Valoria. Upon the cessation of hostilities in their home country, holders must repatriate immediately. Failure to vacate or find an alternative host nation within three days will result in immediate imprisonment and prosecution under hostile and rebellious acts.

Section 3 — The “Valorianischer Bürger Pass” (Citizenship)

Upon the expiration of Stage A, or when an applicant deems themselves fully integrated, they may sit for the Citizenship Exam and subsequent final interview. The VIS will deliver immediate verdict. In the event of a failure, the VIS retains the discretion to grant a brief Stage A extension or demote the applicant back to Stage B.

Section 4 — Rights and Obligations

Immigrants of any probationary stage face immediate deportation if convicted of a criminal offense, with the VIS serving as the sole arbiter of what constitutes a deportable offense. While basic human protections are maintained across all stages, provisional rights scale with VIS security clearance. No non-citizen holds the right to vote or participate in Valorian votes.

THE VALORIAN LAW CODEX

Title I — General Provisions

Article 1 — Purpose

The Valorian Law Codex ensures order, justice, and the systematic protection of Valoria's sovereignty, culture, economy, and citizens.

Article 2 — Supremacy of the Constitution

All laws derive their absolute authority from the Valorian Constitution. In any conflict, constitutional principles prevail.

Article 3 — Equality and Accountability

All Valorians are entirely equal before the law regardless of heritage, belief, or station. High office, elite lineage, or immense commercial wealth grants absolutely no immunity from criminal prosecution or anti-corruption laws. Code infractions by high officials are treated with double severity to maintain public trust.

Article 4 — Purpose of the Law

The Valorian legal system is designed to secure public order, absolute protection of property rights, business continuity, and the systemic rehabilitation of offenders back into productive components of the capitalist kingdom.

Title II — Crimes Against the Realm

Chapter 1 — Treason and Rebellion

Article 5.1 — High Treason

Deliberate actions intended to violently sabotage, subvert, or overthrow the Valorian Crown, its economy, or its collective alliances. Permanent exile or prison can be a penalty; the penalty is dependent on the circumstance.

Article 5.2 — Sedition and Civil Disorder

Organizing, funding, or leading violent demonstrations intended to oppose lawful authority or promote widespread municipal disorder. A heavy financial fine or prison is possible; it is also possible to convict the criminal under Article 5.1.

Chapter 2 — Symbolic Acts and Loyalty

Article 6.1 — Insulting the Realm

Publicly mocking Valoria's core institutions or national symbols in a malicious way that intentionally incites civil disorder is punishable.

Article 6.2 — Royal Disrespect

Unlawful, targeted slander or malicious harassment of the Royal Family intended to destabilize public faith in the state.

Article 6.3 — Anti-Traditionalist Subversion

Publicly deploying banned, radical pre-reform symbols or organizing riots intended to intentionally mock Valorian cultural identity or incite internal race/class warfare, and supporting communism, is punishable.

Title III — Civil and Social Order

Chapter 1 — Conduct and Respect

Article 7.1 — Disrespect Toward Authority

Wilful refusal to comply with lawful civic orders from officials or targeted harassment of on-duty personnel is forbidden and will be punished.

Article 7.2 — Threats and Harassment

Threatening, coercive, or highly predatory behavioural harassment against any citizen is punishable.

Article 7.3 — Destruction of Property

Intentional damage to public infrastructure or private citizen property is punishable.

Chapter 2 — Theft, Fraud, and Deception

Article 8.1 — Theft

Taking the property, assets, or goods of another without clear and documented consent. The full return of all the goods is mandatory and additional fines or imprisonment is possible.

Article 8.2 — Fraud

Deceit, corporate misrepresentation, or financial scamming for material gain. Full repayment to the victim and fines or imprisonment.

Article 8.3 — Exploitation of Loopholes

Exploiting obvious statutory gaps to gain an unfair, non-competitive market advantage. Such acts will be immediately remedied by judicial penalty and swift legislative correction.

Article 8.4 — Confiscated Assets

All fines or goods that get confiscated belong to the Valorian Government, therefore to the King of Valoria.

Chapter 3 — Public Morality and Health

Article 9.1 — Drug Prohibition

Non-authorized production, trade, smuggling, or use of illegal narcotics. Licensed scientific or medical exceptions apply under strict regulation. Possible penalties include asset confiscation and prison or fines.

Article 9.2 — Disorderly Conduct

Public intoxication, violent outbursts, or indecent acts that explicitly disrupt the marketplace public peace are punished with fines.

Title IV — Economic and Administrative Laws

Article 10.1 — Anti-Oligarchic Market Manipulation

Valorian and allied enterprises from other nations are given absolute preference in procurement to ensure national dominance. However, sellers, syndicates, or wealthy cartels are strictly banned from enacting “Phantom Bidding” or deploying fake identities to artificially inflate prices. Monopolistic market hoarding that suffocates small business competitors or deliberate sabotage of domestic infrastructure is aggressively penalized.

Article 10.2 — Corruption and Abuse of Office

Public officials engaging in bribery, extortion, or corporate favouritism face immediate dismissal, permanent blacklisting, asset seizure, and severe criminal sanction.

Article 10.3 — Tax and Contribution

Valoria forbids taxation. In exceptional emergency circumstances, mandatory civic contributions or defensive service hours may be temporarily enacted under direct VRC law and oversight with full payment and return of any assets taken or damaged.

Title V — Rights and Safeguards

Article 11.1 — Right to Fair Trial

Every accused individual has the absolute right to a legal defence, professional representation, and a structured appeal process.

Article 11.2 — Privacy and Dignity

Private correspondence, homes, corporate offices, and personal property are completely protected from unlawful intrusion; however the VIS always has the right to search private property if there is a valid suspicion.

Article 11.3 — Emergency Suspension of Rights

In times of certified war or critical national emergency, certain civic rights may be temporarily limited by lawful decree, unless they violate basic human rights for the Valorian citizen.

Title VI — Implementation and InterpretationArticle 12.1 — Judiciary Authority

The Royal Court of Valoria interprets this Codex, and its rulings set clear, binding national legal precedents.

Article 12.2 — Enforcement

The Valorian Internal Service (VIS) enforces this Codex under strict oversight of the VRC and remains entirely subject to judicial review to prevent police overreach.

Article 12.3 — Amendments to the Codex

Laws within this Codex may be modified by the VRC with comprehensive council oversight and the formal assent required by the Constitution.

Title VII — Special ProvisionsArticle 13.1 — Alter Hafen Autonomy

Alter Hafen retains its historic municipal autonomy in local governance, trade administration, and cultural affairs consistent with Valorian law.

Title VIII — The Court SystemArticle 14.1 — Judiciary

One of the VRC members will be chosen as the judge, depending on how much involvement they have in the case. They sit exclusively in a throne room with guards and the victim's lawyer and the other VRC members. Every trial, piece of evidence, and final verdict must be kept privately unless exceptions are made, preventing leaking anything private from the subject. No secret evidence may ever be used to convict a citizen.

Title X — Civil, Property, and Daily Kingdom LawsArticle 15.2 — Land Boundaries

Boundaries are made by the Crown or local Lords to define property lines. Moving a boundary secretly is a criminal offense.

Article 15.3 — Abandoned Property

If a house or plot of land is left unused for more than 60 days without prior notice, the Crown may reclaim it.

Article 15.4 — Right of Way

Citizens may cross private land if it is the only accessible route, provided they cause no damage.

Article 15.5 — Renting Fairness

To preserve social peace and protect citizens from predatory exploitation, landlords must give tenants a minimum of 7 days' formal written notice before an eviction can take place. Instantaneous evictions are strictly illegal, unless the tenant has committed verifiable property destruction or has wilfully refused rental payment for over 10 consecutive days.

Article 15.6 — Collateral Protection

If a citizen borrows money using their home or tools as collateral, the lender cannot seize the property without an explicit VIS order.

Article 15.7 — Building Style

Any structure built in a city must match the architectural style of the district.

Article 15.8 — The Written Word

Partnerships or business agreements involving shared profits must be formally written down and signed by both parties.

Article 15.9 — Human-Dignity Restorative Service

Debt slavery and the physical ownership of individuals are permanently prohibited. In cases where a citizen incurs a certified, unpayable civil debt, they are partnered with a fair-wage enterprise. A protected portion of their earnings is strictly reserved for essential living expenses, such as housing and food, while the surplus is routed directly to the VRC to satisfy the lender until the ledger is cleared. This mechanism safeguards the creditor's capital while preserving the debtor's human dignity. Furthermore, for citizens in good standing who maintain a clear record with the state, the VRC may contribute supplementary funds to accelerate the liquidation of the debt. In cases where a citizen genuinely suffers from financial hardship due to involuntary job loss, rather than criminal activity or negligence, the VRC may step in to pay a substantial portion of their outstanding debt. Depending on the citizen's pristine criminal and civil record, the VRC reserves the right to liquidate and pay 100% of the debt outright, fully restoring the citizen's financial standing within the kingdom.

Article 15.10 — Fair Wages

Workers must be paid exactly the amount agreed upon in their contract; wage theft by employers is heavily penalized. The Valorian economy operates primarily through direct government contracting rather than standard private transactions. Companies operating in Valoria primarily secure contracts directly with the government; consequently, domestic Valorian customers automatically belong to the “Preferred Valorian Businesses” network, as their transactions directly build and sustain the national economy. This system actively applies to foreign enterprises that relocate to Valoria and provide immediate employment to local citizens. The labour market operates on a direct bilateral request system: if an enterprise declares a specific labour deficit (“we need workers for this”) or if the government identifies a production gap (“we need someone to produce this”), they contact the state directly. The VRC then reviews the registry of citizens, matches qualified individuals to the project, and offers them a contract featuring a fair salary where enterprise profits are split directly between the workers and government. Private contracts are legal and can be made, but the government wants businesses to prefer trade with them first, which is not mandatory but will affect the company’s relation with Valoria.

Article 15.11 — Mandatory Industrial Safety and Corporate Liability

Workers must remain personally alert; all industrial employers and wealthy business enterprises only must mention workplace safety if there is some. If a worker is injured and has a contract with guaranteed safe environment, the employer is automatically held fully liable under the law. However, the government guarantees to pay the victims if they aren’t protected by the employer. In the event of an industrial accident or personal loss on the job, the VRC guarantees immediate financial care and compensation to the affected citizen. While the law does not strictly force enterprises to implement gruelling, mandatory workplace safety regulations, the VRC remains highly nationalistic. If an enterprise neglects basic human safety and causes the death or severe injury of Valorian citizens, the VRC will view that company with extreme disfavour. This nationalist stance allows the state to exert immense economic pressure, push companies to improve, and levy heavy sovereign penalties on negligent enterprises to ensure Valorian lives are never treated as expendable.

Article 15.12 — Contract Breaking

Walking away from a half-finished building or service contract without a valid emergency allows the victim to claim full damages in court.

Title XI — Military Laws

Chapter 1 — Weaponry and Military Service

Article 16.1 — Weapon Registration

People have the right to bear arms after completing the VIS check-up as part of the citizen militia.

Article 16.2 — Conscription Readiness

In times of defensive emergency, every able-bodied citizen registered in the militia must be ready to fight, meaning having their gear stored somewhere accessible or with them.

Article 16.3 — Militia Equipment

Citizens must keep their personal armour and weapons functional, and ready for inspection by the VIS. Some additional private equipment can be brought if it doesn't challenge the law.

Article 16.4 — Banned Public Drawing

Drawing a weapon in an aggressive manner inside a tavern or public square, unless in clear self-defence, is a severe breach of peace.

Article 16.5 — Mandatory Military Service

Every citizen is required to join the citizen militia who can ensure a strong nation. The militia is not mandatory for women; however the government strongly encourages everyone to join the military and treats every Valorian the same.

Chapter 2 — Diplomacy

Article 17.1 — Diplomatic Immunity

Official ambassadors sent by allies cannot be arrested by the VIS without the King's personal approval, unless they pose an immediate physical threat or if it is in a state of war between Valoria and the nation.

CLOSING CLAUSE

Let this Enlightened Codex stand as the ultimate shield of our realm. It guarantees that Valoria remains an unmatched heaven of elite capitalist accumulation, a powerhouse of nationalist pride, and a safe, legally logical fortress of stability for every worker who drives our nation forward. Sealed under the Crown.
